AI Strikes Again

Every new technology seems to bring its own language, and AI is no exception. Putting AI in management has resulted in the use of "MAINGEMENT" domains emerging.

Our approach to AI for Sales Maingement is under development. As we create training modules, we will post some here.

Clicking on the icons below will give you temporary access to the videos, case studies, and other materials we create.

15-minute introductory video

10-minute video with initial sales management responsibilities

This case study begins with the AI instructions and follows with the output. New opportunities, approaches, prioritization and marketing content is included in AI's response.
